Youth Information Today in Europe and Ireland

Youth Information is a rapidly evolving, dynamic and needed area of youth provision that young people have a right to within European Policy. There are new programmes, knowledge, service provision initiatives and policy changes which are of common interest to all stakeholders.

This event will promote and evidence the value of European and national youth information services for young people in the context of Eurodesk and youth information services' role in the implementation of the EU youth strategy. It will also provide delegates with an opportunity for networking, learning and development of a common understanding of the evolving challenges and opportunities in youth information.
